CHARGES AGAINST SEALERS

Captain Folger Says British Boats Openly Violate the Sealing Regulations.

He is Making Affidavits Which are to be Used in the Marvin Case.

San Francisco, Sept. 27.—If the stories of the American captains are to be believed, Canadian schooners are violating every clause of the regulations. It is said the attorney-general will take steps to obtain evidence to lay before the British officials.

The latest story is told by Captain Folger, of the schooner Edward D. Webster, now here. He said he visited many British vessels in Behring Sea, and saw on every one arms and ammunition unsealed and ready for use. He reports that the English sealers said they would use fire arms without fear of consequences. Captain Folger makes affidavits stating the facts, and his charges will be specified against the Canadian vessels E. B. Marvin, Carlotta G. Cox and the Annie E. Paint.

W. S. Appleman, ex-striker, who was tried for the murder of Engineer Clark, of the famous train wreck near Sacramento, where four soldiers were also killed, was arrested and expelled from Presidio reservation by order of General Graham. G. E. Crandall, another ex-striker, was treated in the same summary fashion. The two men visited Presidio to view the famous monument erected to the memory of the murdered soldiers. General Graham had caused to be carved on the monument the inscription "Murdered by strikers." The A. R. U. men have been trying to have this obnoxious sentence removed, and have appealed to the war department. After inspecting the monument, Appleman and Crandall walked about the grounds; they were seized by soldiers and taken before General Graham. They protested that they were American citizens who had a right to be on the grounds, but the general ordered them out, and they were escorted to the gate by a guard of soldiers. General Graham says the men visited the monument and asked such questions of the guard as led him to believe they contemplated mischief. The monument is guarded night and day in order to prevent its destruction by ex-strikers.

Wichita, Kas., Sept. 27.—An invasion of bugs, amounting almost to a plague, took place in this city shortly after midnight last night. The electric street lamps were entirely obscured, and the sidewalks covered an inch deep. Bugs even clogged the type-setting machines in the newspaper offices, and drove the bugs were of several kinds. This morn- operators from their keyboards. The ing the electric light men removed over 100 gallons of the pests from the globes of the lamps.

Apia, Samoa, Sept. 11. via steamer to San Francisco.—There has been much unfavorable comment here recently in regard to the action of British Consul Woodford. The latter made a visit to the headquarters of the rebel party and induced their leader Tamasese to visit Apia where he was entertained at the consulate and driven about town in the consul's carriage.

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Some American bishops, doubting that Rome meant to strictly enforce the order condemning Catholic membership in the Knights of Pythias, Sons of Temperance and Odd fellows, recently wrote for instructions. A reply has ben received from Archbishop Larrisen, secretary of the propaganda, in which he says there is no chance for a revocation of the decree. In special cases recourse may be had to Rome.

Mr. S. R. Callaway, general manager of the Nickel Plate line, has been offered the general management of the Grand Trunk line and has declined.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., Sept. 27.—The steamer Mark Hopkins collided with the steamer Vanderbilt at Nine Mile Point to-day. The Hopkins went down in two minutes; the Vanderbilt was only slightly injured. The Hopkins, which was insured for $40,000, was owned by R. C. Secor, of St. Clair, Mich.

New York, Sept. 27.—The fourth race in the half-raters series to-day was won by the American boat Ethel Wynne, the Spruce being one minute behind. This makes the boats even again.

Washington, Sept. 27.—Secretary Olney received information to-day that the Mora draft, amounting to almost a million and a half dollars, had been paid in London to-day, by the Spanish financial agent. The money was paid in gold and will probably be transferred to this country by cable draft, and placed to Secretary Olney's credit.

Minneapolis, Sept. 27.—The Northwestern Miller gives the following summary of the week's milling news: The output last week, with comparisons, was: Sept. 21, 1895, Sept. 22, 1894, Minneapolis, 251,340 barrels, 210,440 barrels. Superior-Duluth, 107,580 barrels, 95,115 barrels. Milwaukee, 27,200 barrels, 38970 barrels. St. Louis, 75,600 barrels, 72,200 barrels. Totals, 471,780 and 416,725 for the two weeks respectively. Every mill in this city is going at full capacity, and the produce promises to approach 276,000 barrels this week. Sales last week were nearly 500,000 barrels. At Superior-Duluth last week the production was the heaviest on record. All the mills are going this week, and the figures may reach 110,000 barrels.

New York, Sept. 27.—W. H. Crossman & Bro. have withdrawn from the sub-treasury $1,500,000 gold, engaged by them for shipment to Hamburg to-morrow.

An unusually bold robbery occurred on on the Pullman sleeper of the Wabash limited as the train was leaving this city for Detroit last night. A well dressed man entered the Pullman stopping at the first occupied berth, slipped in and choked into silence Mrs. George Mack, the occupant. After securing a well-filled pocketbook, jewelry and clothes of the terrified woman, whose husband sat in the smoking compartment only a few feet away, the robber tried to leave. Mrs. Mack clung to him, however, and he only escaped after knocking her senseless. He jumped from the moving train apparently uninjured and escaped in the darkness.

—The cases of Gus Hansen and Ole Christiansen, charged with assaulting Joseph Labourne, are on in police court late to-day. J. Stuart Yates is prosecuting both cases, while Geo. E. Powell appears for Hansen.

MORE ARMENIAN ATROCITIES

The Turk Incites the Musselmans to Further Murder and Bloodshed.

Kaiser William Congratulates the Guards—To-Day's Old World Events.

Verna, Sept. 27.—Advices from Antioch state that Ottoman officials succeeded in exciting Musselmans with a report of an impending massacre by Armenians. As a result of this, the Musselmans accompanied by the police, raided the Armenian church and searched the building for arms. The Armenians resisted, and in the conflict which ensued there were ten killed. A reign of terror prevails. Many Armenians have been arrested.

Constantinople, Sept. 27.—An Armenian named Guedijan, who claims to be a citizen of the United States, was recently sentenced to a long term of imprisonment upon a charge of being an emissary of an Armenian revolutionary secretary in the United States. The consul at Alpho, where Guedijan was confined was not allowed by the authorities to visit the prisoner. Mr. Alex. W. Terrel, United States minister to Turkey, demanded of the Porte that the sentence in this case be suspended until it could be ascertained whether or not he had forfeited a right to protection by the United States. The Porte has now telegraphed the authorities at Alpho to allow the United States consul to investigate the case and see the prisoner.

London, Sept. 27.— A Berlin dispatch to the Times says that Emperor William has addressed a cabinet order to General Winterfield, congratulating the Guards upon the high standard of efficiency they showed at the manoeuvres.

A dispatch to the Times from Berlin says that the great bridge across the Danube, conecting the towns of Tschernavado and Feresti, in Roumania, was opened to-day in the presence of the King and Queen of Roumania and other royal personages, ministers and diplomats. The cost of the new bridge is 44,000,000 francs.

Southampton, Sept. 27.—The steamship Paris run from New York to Southampton was slower by twenty hours than her record. The slow time was caused in part by fog, but more by a defective boiler. It is believed that on her arrival at New York the Paris will be laid up for repairs to the defective boiler.

Paris, Sept. 27.—Bouteille, the man who on September 5th carried a cocoa tin containing chloride of potash and ordinary gunpowder into the vestibule of the Rothschild banking house, where he was arrested while trying to ignite the compound, was to-day sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

London, Sept. 27.—The Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon prints a dispatch from Shanghai which says: Appearances indicate that England is finally in earnest with regard to the massacre of Christians. Five warships are now on the river Yang Tse Kiang, proceeding toward the scene of the disturbances, and four more are expected to start to-morrow.

The Daily Chronicle, an organ of the Liberal party, states to-day that the leaders of the Conservative party intend to make the House of Lords an elective body, either adopting the principle already existing in relation to Scottish peers sitting in the House of Lords, or have the House of Commons elect the upper chamber from the peerage. Also, according to the Chronicle, it is intended to give the peers the right to forego their prerogative to the House of Lords and enter the House of Commons.

Col. Shervinton, who was formerly commander-in-chief of the Malagasy forces, which position he resigned in April last, has been interviewed by the Daily News regarding the war in Madagascar. Col. Shervinton told the reporter the Hovas intended to fight to the bitter end, and he is convinced that the French accounts of their victory over the Hovas at Majunga have been revised for the purpose of cheering the French people. Col. Shervinton said further that is was ridiculous to suppose, as was stated in the official dispatch from Madagascar this week, that the main body of the Hovas army had been met 40 miles from the capital and defeated. The Hovas, Col. Shervinton says, would never expose the capital by dispatching the main body of troops to the front. The French expedition has not met the Hovas army, he said, and will not until within two miles of the capital. Then, concluded Col. Shervinton, there will be desperate fighting.

Peterboro, Ont., Sept. 27.—The trial of Mrs. Bessie Gray, who, along with her husband, was brought back from Osceola, Fla., on a charge of murdering old David Scollie, was to-day brought to an abrupt conclusion, the judge taking the case from the jury and discharging the prisoner. Gray, who was also to be tried as an accessory, will likewise be set at liberty.

Ingersoll, Ont., Sept. 27.—Partlo's flour mills here were destroyed by fire this morning; loss $40,000.

RED HOT FENIAN SPEECHES

Chairman Finerty and O'Donovan Rossa Are for Open War on England.

The Irishmen Would Settle Cuba's Little Account at the Same Time.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 26.—To-day's session of the Irish "New Movement" convention was generally regarded as the most important of all. The principal business on the programme was the consideration of the platform, submitted by the committee on resolutions, and the report of the committee on ways and means, for national organization.

O'Neill Ryan, of St. Louis, chairman of the committee on resolutions, read the platform proposed for the consideration of the convention, as follows: "The people of Ireland are a sovereign people. Ireland is by nature separate from every other country, and liberty is the birthright of her people. Ireland was known throughout Europe as a nation long before the dawn of Christianity, and was the home of civilization, while England was still barbarous. England's claim to authority in Ireland originated in force and has been maintained by corruption and coercion, they have never ripened into a right rule; the title by conquest has never been perfected, inasmuch as the Irish people have continuously by constitutional agitation, or revolutionary movements, resisted England's power and endeavored to destroy her unlawful supremacy. Ireland is deprived of almost every civil right which the American people most dearly cherish. Unexampled cruelty and brutal vindictiveness, have been the distinguishing features of her rule in Ireland. England has destroyed Ireland's industries and ruined her commerce, she has placed upon her statute books laws making it a crime to educate an Irish child. She burned Ireland's schoolhouses and destroyed her churches; she has driven into exile or left to perish in dungeons thousands of men whose only crime was love of Ireland. Every measure for the last century looking towards legislative independence of the Irish people has either suffered defeat in the Commons or been arbitrarily rejected by the Lords. England has violated every treaty and broken every pledge, and with almost every year of the century she has imposed upon Ireland brutal laws of coercion, and one of the most drastic character is now upon her statute books. To the pleadings of the people for justice, and their prayers for mercy, England has responded with the scourge and scaffold, and yet to-day, Ireland enthralled, but not enslaved; crushed, but not conquered, is in spirit a nation. It has become evident, after many years of earnest endeavor to obtain a measure of independence from the English government by peaceful agitation, that appeals to reason for justice are futile. It is left, therefore, for the men of the Irish race to proclaim again the truth recorded by all history that the liberties of the people, and the independence of a nation, cannot be achieved by debate, but must be won upon the field of battle, and we declare our belief that the men of Ireland, who are being driven into exile, or into the graves of serfs in their native land, by English misgovernment, are entitled by the laws of God and man to use every means in their power to drive from their country the tyrant and usurper, and we believe that Ireland has the right to make England's difficulty her opportunity, and to use all possible means to create that difficulty. In view of this fact, the members of this convention appeal with confidence to their American fellow citizens and all lovers of liberty to cooperate with them in aiding the people of Ireland in the achievement of the same measure of liberty enjoyed in the United States, distinct from the "Declaration of principles."

The chairman also submitted, on behalf of the resolutions committee, three separate resolutions, as follow: Resolved—That we earnestly protest against the continual incarceration in English prisons of Irish patriots; that we consider it inhuman and against the policy of civilized nations to keep in prison men who have acted only in the interest of their country and human liberty; that the release of these men is imperatively demanded, not only by the Irish people, but by civilization.

Resolved—That this convention express the hope that the people of Cuba who are struggling for political independence and the establishment of a republic, will be successful, and more, we extend to them our heartfelt sympathy.

Chairman Finnerty's speech was "warm." He said: "American papers question the prudence of holding this convention, dictating to us a policy and hoping we will do nothing to offend English sentiment. What do we care for English sentiment? (Laughter.) We don't want to offend American sentiment, nor French sentiment, nor Russian sentiment, but we want to offend most seriously our hereditary and merciless foe. (Cheers.) We are here to-day to sound the death knell of whiggery in Irish politics. We stand on our rights as a race to advocate the absolute independence of the land that gave us and our fathers life. Our friends, the editorial writers, may preach the doctrine of prudence. We will follow their advice so long as it may be necessary. I will remind my American editorial friends that when America had a grievance against England they did not stand on the order on which they threw the British tea chests into Boston harbor.

"The English press will say that we are here for other purposes than the accomplishment of the liberty of Ireland. It is physically and morally impossible for the English press to tell the truth. (Cheers.) We do, however, desire to tell Great Britain, and France and Russia and any other enemy of Great Britain, that we are in this fight to stay. We are not in it for one year or three, but for the war. (Tremendous cheering.) We do not care if we are to be beset by whole battalions of English spies. We do not care if all Scotland Yard is within hearing to-night, because we are meeting in public and with an avowed purpose."

Continuing, the speaker said: "England stole our parliament. We have asked it back. We have gone out of our way to humiliate ourselves at the feet of England. Are we to remain thus forever? We are not here to be told that we contemplate murder or swindling. Those properties belong to England. We are here to invite the sympathy of the whole world to our cause. We are here to tell our beloved Uncle Sam that if he draws the sword in defence of the Monroe doctrine the Irishmen of America will be behind the stars and stripes when the struggle comes. We are here to tell Russia, if she desires the conquest of India, that our hearts and hands are with her; the French, who hate England, that whenever they get tangled up in a dispute with England over the colonies they can rely on our support. We are here to encourage the enlistment of young Irishmen, whether in independent or regular battalions, to be ready when the time comes."

Mr. Finerty, having thus outlined the cause and purpose of the meeting, concluded with a ringing peroration that brought the audience to its feet again and again. The close of the speech produced a wonderful scene in its way, the audience standing and cheering for fully ten minutes. After this two resolutions were offered, expressing sympathy with the Cuban revolutionists. A communication was presented from the Polish Alliance of the United States, expressing sympathy with the objects of the convention. Several other resolutions and communications were then handed in and turned over to the committee on platform and resolutions. A number of telegrams and cablegrams were received to-day, in addition to those of yesterday, approving the convention and indorsing the cause, and were read by Secretary Sutton. A noticeable fact was that many of the telegrams from Ireland came from the northern end of the Island, where the national idea has been supposed to have few advocates.

A motion by O'Neil Ryan, of Missouri, that a committee of one from each state be appointed to draft resolutions was adopted. William Lyman, of New York, moved the appointment of a committee on organization and ways and means, which was adopted.

In the afternoon session the chairman read a clipping from the Pall Mall Gazette which favored meeting the Irish half way in their struggle for independence. The reading was received with loud applause, and the delegates seemed to think that it was the first symptom that England would give attention to their demands.

Rossa was given an ovation when he rose to address the meeting. He said, in part: "I am not in favor of waiting. In my judgment the time to strike is when we are ready, and the place to strike is in England. All this talk of organizing to fight the English out of England is very well, but it has no terrors for England. She is more afraid of the Irish in England and Ireland than in any other place. Now is the time for us to strike, and the quicker the better."

O'Neil Ryan, of St. Louis, said that he spoke for the young men of the Irish nation, who would take up the fight when some of the old men before them were ready to lay it down. "This move means," he said, "revolution. It means the turning point from parliamentary tactics to the pike and the sword. We have given a patient trial to peaceful agitation, and we now turn to the teachings of O'Neil and O'Donnell."

Pittsburg, Sept. 27.—Representatives of fifteen Irish organizations met tonight to take action on the refusal of the Irish convention at Chicago to admit the delegates sent from Allegheny county. A letter was read from Delegate Madden, who said he expected to be refused admission because of his antagonism to the ring. A representative from Belfast is in Pittsburg, and said to the meeting that the men who compose the Chicago convention have no connection with any organization in Ireland. Several protesting telegrams were sent to the Chicago convention.

London, Sept. 27.—The Pall Mall Gazette this afternoon prints a letter on the subject of the Irish Nationalist convention at Chicago. The Gazette expresses the opinion that the so-called new movement is very like the old one which was temporarily crushed by the revelations in connection with the murder of Dr. Cronin at Chicago, and the object of which, it asserts, was clearly proven to be boodle and not the independence of Ireland. "We can afford to smile at Mr. Finerty's statements," says the Gazette, "but if the Irish will formulate their demand and agitate for redress in the manner adopted by Englishmen they will find England more than ready to meet them half way. Threats only stiffen our backs and dull our hearing."

DURRANT IN A TIGHTER PLACE.

His Alibi, the Chief Point in the Defence, Fails.

San Francisco, Sept. 26.—The alibi which the defence in the Durrant case have been depending upon so much, has proved to be a soap bubble. Dr. Cheney, lecturer at the college where Durrant was a student, has said that he cannot swear that the prisoner was present at the lecture on the afternoon of April 3. In an interview on the question he says: "I have been interviewed and questioned on this subject dozens of times since the arrest of Theodore Durrant, and on these occasions I have stated that I did not know whether the defendant in the case now on trial was in my class room or not on the afternoon of April 3, 1895. I supposed that this was well understood, and I was greatly surprised when informed of Mr. Deuprey's announcement of what I was to swear to. Mr. Dickinson called on me once or twice, and to him I have given the substance of what I am now saying. At no time did I state that I could or would swear that Durrant attended my lecture, and when called upon the stand I will certainly adhere to my former statements. The name of Theodore Durrant is marked present on the classbook for April 3, but whether he was there in person to answer to his name, or whether some one of his fellow-students answered for him, I am not prepared to say. I know, as I have stated before, that this sort of thing is done from time to time, but in the present instance I am totally unaware of the true circumstances. So far as the notes of Durrant are concerned, I could tell but very little. The class averages about seventy students, and I don't suppose that any two make notes the same way. The fact that Durrant's notes were different from the others would not strike me as being remarkable in any way."

This witness, therefore, gave disappointing testimony to-day. Instead of testifying that Durrant was present at the lecture, as Attorney Deuprey said Dr. Cheney would do, the doctor said he had no recollection of seeing the young man. To offset this reverse the defense made but one point, the admission as an exhibit of the roll call book at the college in which Durrant was recorded present at the lecture given on the afternoon of April 3rd.

The prosecutiton hold the roll call book in little esteem, from the fact that they will place witnesses on the stand to prove that Durrant frequently asked his class mates to anwer to his name when he was absent, and that they complied with his request.

San Francisco, Sept. 27.—The following witnesses have been supoenaed and will be called to the stand in the Durrant case to-day: Dr. Stillman and Dr. Rixford, and students Cross, Diggins, Carter, Graham and Walters, of Cooper College; Seymour W. Condon, E. Carpenter and Robert W. Macland. Carpenter is an expert gas fitter who will exlain the workings of the sun burner in Emanuel church, and Maitland is an expert electrician, who will show by diagrams and charts how the electrical apparatus of the building runs.

The prosecution during the presentation of its evidence against Durrant was unable to produce testimony tending to show accused of immoral character. When the time for rebuttal comes, however, it is the intention to present all that evidence. It is claimed by the detectives that they have sufficient proof to offset everything that may be offered to prove a good character for the accused. There is a report that the defence would produce witnesses who would testify they saw the accused medical student enter Emanuel Baptist church alone on the afternoon of April 3rd, between 4:30 and 5 o'clock, within which time Blanche Lamont is supposed to have been murdered; but a few people to whom the witness confided the story guarded her name sedulously. William A. Doud, stock broker, knows the woman who may thus testify, and is in possession of the nature of the evidence she will give. Mr. Doud said: "I know of the witness because the story was told me. Several others know it, but all are pledged to secrecy; whe the proper time comes the evidence will be given." The story as known at police headquarters is this: The woman met a young man walking towards the church on the afternoon and time mentioned, and accosted him, mistaking him at first for a friend; she apologized, passed on, then, curious about the mistake, turned and saw the stranger entering the church. She is recently said to have identified Durrant as the young man to whom she spoke that afternoon.

GUATEMALA'S DIGNITY HURT.

By a Slighting Reference Made by the Spanish Minister.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 27.—A sharp diplomatic correspondence is passing between two distinguished members of the diplomatic corps in Washington, Senor Dupuy de Lome, of Spain, and Senor Lazo Arriaga, of Guatemala. The latter has called on the Spanish minister for a public disavowal of certain reflections on Guatemala. The two diplomats met at the state department today, whereupon Senor Arriaga personally reiterated what he had already requested in writing in the form of a public retraction. The affair is the result of one of the several interviews and statements in which Senor Dupuy de Lome, has appeared of late, concerning the Cuban insurrection. In these statements he arraigned the press for partiality toward the insurgents, and, in speaking of the latter, said that if the Cubans gained their independence, they would reduce Cuba to an inferior place among the nations of the world; analagous, he said, to the low position of Hayti, San Domingo or Guatemala. The statement reached Senor Lazo Arriaga in due time, through the medium of a "Clippings bureau." He resented Guatemala being set down as a type of inferiority. He thereupon addressed a letter to Senor de Lome, which although couched in smooth phrases of diplomacy, left no doubt of Senor Arriaga's indignation. What reply, if any, Senor de Lome made is not known, but the two ministers happened to come together today while seeking Secretary Olney, at the state department. The ministers showed all deference to each other, but Senor Lazo Arriaga did not hesitate to express deep disapproval of the Spanish minister's course. It is understood that Senor Dupuy de Lome gave assurances that a correction, or retraction, would be made public through the press.

EXCHANGE RATE STILL DOWN.

As a Result of Gold Export—The Market Good.

New York, Sept. 26.—The evening Post's financial article says; "Posted sterling exchange was marked down again to-day, the necessary result of a further quarter cent decline in actual rates; slight bills and cable transfers now stand fully 1-2 cent in the pound below the profitable gold export level. It was especially noteworthy to-day that not only brokers' drafts, but commercial bills as well, pressed on the market in quantity. This plainly is an outcome of the alarm taken by foreign spinners over the estimate on the cotton crop. This week's advance on cotton prices reflects chiefly their American purchases, all of which must be settled in short order on the sterling market. It was still believed that the gold exporters were laboring to earn their foreign commission by exports on Saturday's European steamer, but their margin is heavily reduced.

The decline in sterling rates, however, had a marked effect on to-day's stock exchange quotations. This favorable development was helped by a number of extremely encouraging reports of net earnings for the month of August.

The Evening Post's special London cablegram says: "Coin and bullion in the Bank of England increased this week £869,000, though £973,000 net gold were imported for the week. Gold, therefore, has gone slightly into home circulation for havesting and other purposes. The details of the gold movements were: £1,076,00 United States coin bought, £188,000 bar gold bought, £339,000 from Australia, £300,000 to Egypt, £250,000 to the Cape, £50,000 to Brazil, and £30,000 to Argentine. The markets generally were stronger, the unpleasantness of the far eastern question being disregarded by operators in their present mood. The feature of the day is the rush for West Australia mines, many of which are pounds higher. Germany is largely in the movement. Kaffirs are easier for the moment. Americans were strong and more active, closing at the top. Erie securities were in favor. Prior lien bonds were bid for at the close at 101. t is understood that those who took the line in America at are holding out at least for par in New New.

The rise in copper was on revived reports of a combination for the restriction of the output. The Anaconda mine has been bought up and is to be floated here shortly.

The speculation in stocks to-day was narrow and even more strictly professional in character than usual recently. The street, apparently, was more interested in the conjectures regarding the probability or improbability of further exports of gold from this country to Germany, than in the excellent report of the St. Paul railroad for August, the weaker tendency of the exchange market, the large investment demand for our securities here and in Europe and the improvement in the anthracite coal trade, and the successive advances in foreign and domestic sugars reported daily. London was disposed to take a more favorable attitude toward our stock market, and Erie prior lien four per cent. bonds were quoted there in good request when deliverable at 101. London also bought some stock in this market. The opening was fairly active with the initial sales generally at slight advances. The early gains were most marked in the industrials, notably in Chicago Gas, which rose one per cent. The downward tendency soon became evident and distilling marked pressure was a feature. Chicago gas was also hammered. The losses in the general market were confined to reactions. The coalers came into prominence after 11 a. m. The group displayed considerable strength. The volume of business in the groups, aside from Reading, which commenced on the entire list in this respect, as only moderate. The strength evinced, however, had stimblating influence upon the general list, which increased by the St. Paul statement for August, showing a gain of $169,908 in net and $196,712 in gross earnings.

THE RING.

LEGISLATORS CALLED IN.

Dallas, Tex., Sept. 27.—Crown Attorney Brya, of Georgetown, Texas, refused to accept from R. A. Johns, a prominent attorney, $750 tendered to secure a license for the prize fight. Mr. Johns refused to say for whom he was acting. A test case before the supreme court will be made of this action. Other cash applications for licenses have been made, but this is the first case in which cold cash has been planked down. Who is behind Mr. Johns is not known.

Austin, Tex., Sept. 27.—Governor Culberson has issued a proclamation calling a special session of the legislature for October 1st, that will pass a law that will knock the Corbett-Fitzsimmons prize fight into a cocked hat. The governor issued a proclamation at midnight last night after a lengthy consultation with the cabinet. He gave as a reason for his action that in the present condition of the law the fight managers are liable to pull off the fight while the courts are rowing over it; that the chief justice of the court of criminal appeals ruled against the state, and now there is a mandamus case pending in the supreme court, that may go on an entirely different line, thus causing a conflict between the two highest courts in the state. In order to avoid any possible contention, he has issued the proclamation.

The proclamation reads as follows:—"Whereas the decision of the presiding judge of the court of criminal appeals lately rendered will embarrass the execution of the laws of this state against prize fighting; and whereas there is no certainty of determining the soundness of said decision by a court of final resort in time to meet existing emergencies; now, therefore, by virtue of the authority vested in me, I hereby call a special session of the 24th legislature to be convened in the city of Austin, beginning on noon of Tuesday, Oct. 1, 1895, for the following purpose: 1st. To denounce prize fighting and kindred practices, and in clear and unambiguous terms prohibit same by appropriate pains and penalties, putting the law into immediate operation, so that the proposed exhibition of this character within this state may be prevented, the undoubted will of the people upon the subject respectedfi and this affront to the moral sense and enlightened progress of the people of Texas may be averted. 2nd. To consider and act upon such other matters as may be presented.

"THE" EVENT.

New York, Sept. 27.—As a result of his dispute with Bob Fitzsimmons, Lawyer E. M. Friend has decided to withdraw his $5000 in the $10,000 stake for the former's championship fight with Corbett. Mr. Friend said: "Fitzsimmons has thrown all of his friends down, but he will not do so with me. I will call on Paul Dwyer, the stakeholder, and demand the $5000." Brady, Corbett's manager, was asked if Friend's action would invalidate the articles of agreement between Corbett and Fitzsimmons for the fight in Texas. He said: "Corbett will explain his position to the public next Monday night. I have nothing further to say."

Chicago, Sept. 27.—Parson Davies arrived in the city to-day from the east. When shown the statement of William A. Brady that if Fitzsimmons did not quickly agree to a referee Peter Maher will be substituted, he said that Maher is matched with O'Donnell. "If he steps out of that I will send Joe Choynski against O'Donnell for the purse and bet $2500 on the side. If the report about Corbett's lack of condition should be true, I will back Choynski against Fitzsimmons and be glad of the chance."

In talking of the preparations for the fight Davies said: "I see they have selected no referee yet. Why don't they select John L. Sullivan? He is as honest as a man could be, knows the game, and the fact that he was beaten by Corbett would make no difference to him. I don't see how they can get a better man."

Austin, Tex., Sept. 27.—Suit has been instituted in the state supreme court by county officials for a mandamus against Controller Finley, compelling him to issue a license for a prize fight. A petition for a mandamus is also prepared, and the difference between this petition and the first is that the pleadings show that an actual demand was made on the tax collector for a license, which he could not comply with. This brings the question before the highest civil court in the state, and it is believed that if the supreme court decides that there is no law against prize fighting in Texas, Governor Culberson will make no interference with the Corbett-Fitzsimmons fight. If, on the other hand, the court holds that prize fighting is prohibited by law, it is believed that the governor will use every effort to stop it.

BOB'S DANGEROUS PET.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 27.—Bob Fitzsimmons was here to-night and gave a sparring exhibition. His cub lion came within an ace of knocking him out before the curtain was raised. Fitzsimmons was feeding the brute. The cub was not satisfied with his allowance, and seized a large chunk of beef intended for his breakfast. Fitzsimmons tried to take it away and threw the cub on its head. Quick as a flash the brute turned on its back and made a swipe at Fitz. One claw closed on his leg and pulled away some of the flesh and half of the garment. The lion was subdued by a bucket of ice water. Fitzsimmons was painfully, but not seriously injured.

YACHTING.

AUSTRALIA IN IT.

London, Sept. 27.—Mr. Herbert Moir, a well know colonial yachtsman, has written an open letter to the Yachting World in which he says: "I know I am expressing the feeling of many thousands of Englishmen, at home and abroad, when I say the America's cup should be brought across to the Old Country. I am prepared to form a syndicate to build a yacht to be called the West Australia, to bring the cup back to Old England, and I will subscribe £500." Since the letter appeared Mr. Moir has been fairly inundated with offers to subscribe sums ranging from £500 to £1,000, until at the present time he is promised over £30,000 for the purpose of challenging for the cup. Mr. Moir is the head of a large Western Australian corporation with headquarters in London. In an interview this afternoon Mr. Moir said: "I have long wished to build a yacht to compete for the America's cup. I first started yachting in Sydney harbor. Like all good yachtsmen and Australians I do not see why the cup should remain in America always. Surely there are yacht builders and designers outside of that country. I shall call the boat after the colony where I have made my greatest successes, West Australia."

Ayer's Sarsaparilla enjoys the extraordinary distinction of having been the only blood purifier allowed an exhibit at the World's fair, Chicago. Manufacturers of other sarsaparillas sought by every means to obtain a showing of their goods, but they were all turned away under the application of the rule forbidding the entry of patent medicines and nostrums. The decision of the World's fair authorities in favor of Ayer's Sarsaparilla was in effect as follows: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a patent medicine. It does not belong to the list of nostrums. It is here on its merits."

COMPROMISE IN MANITOBA.

At the end of his last letter to the Globe on the Manitoba school question Rev. Principal Grant makes this declaration: "Enough has been said to show that if this vexed question were only detached from politics it would be settled with comparatice ease." We have no doubt Dr. Grant is in the right here, but the troublesome fact is that the question has now got into such a position that its detachment from politics will prove a hard matter. The Rev. Principal gives an illustration of the readiness with which a satisfactory compromise might be reached if the parties approached the business in the proper spirit and were let alone by outsiders. He thus writes of a school which he visited:

"Returning to the school which I was describing a little inquiry satisfied me on three points. First, the teacher has only a third class St. Boniface certificate and that is not accepted by the department of education. The first St. Boniface is accepted as third class. He is, however, allowed to teach and rightly so, for he has had experience, his knowledge of English is above the average and it would be difficult for the trustees to get anyone else as good. Secondly, the text books are mixed, one or two being those authorized by the advisory board and the other being the Sadlier series which the old Catholic section favored. The inspector has permitted the substitution of the new for the old to take place gradually. Had he done otherwise either the parents would have been obliged to buy new sets of books for their children or the trustees would have had to do it and in either case it would have been a hardship which might have prevented their adopting the public school system, or at any rate it would have needlessly irritated them.

"Thirdly, the teacher in applying for his government grant makes affidavit that the school is conducted according to the regulations, while the religious exercises are practically the same as under the old denominational system. This is managed by means of the rule quoted in a former letter, which allows the trustees to fix an hour earlier than 4 p.m. for closing, and by a rule which permits schools to be used for other purposes than teaching outside the regular hours. This school opens at 9, the regular hour, but teachers and scholars assemble a little sooner, and it is opened with prayer. Even if the hour should be 9 the teacher can 'make it' 8:45, as easily as the captain of a ship can make it 8 bells, or as the house of commons can make 5:30 into 6 o'clock when it is desirable to do so. The school closes at 12, and immediately thereafter the teacher kneels and he and the pupils join in the Lord's Prayer. He then invokes St. Joseph three times, and the pupils at each invocation crying reverently 'priez pour nous" (pray for us), after which they disperse to their homes. The closing in the afternoon is fixed by the trustees at 3:30, and at that hour catechism and sacred history are taken up, and the children having perhaps learned their lessons at home, are drilled in those branches of sacred learning. This way of doing things is declared to be satisfactory to all parties. The school is public, yet denominational teaching and religious exercises are given regularly. The teacher makes his affidavit and gets his money; the government cannot go behind that, and the inspector sees that the letter of the law is kept. The method of giving religious instruction is precisely that which is adopted in convents, at any rate in all those which admit Protestant scholars. The Sisters are too good teachers not to have each hour or half hour set apart for its own branch of instruction. On visiting St. Mary's Academy in Winnipeg, taught by the Sisters of Jesus and Mary, I found that after 3:30 p.m. was the time for religious instruction, and that during the next half hour the Protestant girls, who attended, practised conversation lessons in French.

"Now, this would seem to suggest an easy method of solving the Manitoba school problem, but I am puzzled on the one hand by the language of Archbishop Langevin with reference to a proposal based upon it, and on the other hand by the attitude of the government of Manitoba with regard to overtures made to them by representatives of the Roman Catholic schools in Winnipeg."

Of course if the minority and the church will accept nothing less than the restoration of the old system, and the government will not allow the extension of the system of compromise which touches this one school, then an agreement is out of the question. It is much to be feared that the "remedial order" is far from bettering the situation.

The truth of the statement that Liberals are dissatisfied with Mr. Laurier's leadership is easy to test. Let the Colonist mention the name of one Liberal who has expressed discontent, publicly or privately, and it will to that extent have justified its assertions. Until it produces at least one substantial witness it can hardly expect its vaporings to be mistaken for truth. With apparently unconscious humor the organ offers this remarkable statement: "It may be that the impression that the Liberals of Ontario and the Maritime provinces are disappointed in their leader has been borne to the Pacific coast on the wings of an eastern gale." Seeing that the "impression" is to be found nowhere outside of the Colonist office the source of that gale is easily identified. Unfortunately for our neighbor, its fondness for "wind, mere wind," is well known to the multitude. "All Liberals are not blind partisans," quoth the organ. It might have said with equal truth that very few Liberals are blind partisans, and that fact makes more noticeable the unanimity and enthusiasm with which they follow Mr. Laurier's lead.

In re the fruit question the Winnipeg Free Press delivers the following judgment:—"Commenting upon the late shipments of British Columbia fruits to Winnipeg, a New Westminster paper notes the difficulties as to low fast freights similar to those on American lines which a Winnipeg paper pointed out as essential to success in establishing a trade. In connection with this is a letter from Traffic Agent Kerr showing that the conditions on the C. P. R. are just as favorable as on the American lines and are being taken advantage of by other B. C. fruit shippers. Sifted down, the trouble so far seems to be confined to two points: the shippers picked their fruit when too ripe and were less careful in packing than their neighbors across the line. No one enjoys the tracing back of a cause of grievance to its own door; but if the British Columbia fruit growers will take the lesson to heart and make their fruit shipments under the same conditions as the more experienced American growers, they will find a steady and profitable market in Winnipeg and Manitoba towns."

THE PREMIER AND HIS PROMISES.

"Sir Mackenzie Bowell," says the Toronto Mail and Empire, "is berated by the Liberal press because, when asked by the business men of Winnipeg to provide for the improvement of the navigation of the Red river, he declined to give a definite promise. The premier certainly did refrain from giving a promise. He listened to the representations, and after some banter, pledged himself to look carefully into them." Our contemporary then goes on to contrast the hon. gentleman's caution and vigilance in the public interest with Mr. Laurier's too great readiness to promise anything that will secure votes. That is a matter for the party organs to fight about, although it may be remarked that when Mr. Laurier was here a year ago, it was not observed that he was particularly rash in promises. However it is with the premier and his attitude with respect to the improvement of the St. Andrew's rapids that we have to do just now. We are afraid the ministerial paper at Toronto was not as careful as usual in reading the report of his speech on the occasion referred to, or in studying the dissatisfaction that was caused by it. The whole tone of his remarks was hostile. By implication, at least, if not directly, he reproached the deputation for putting him to the trouble to listen to their representations, and very plainly intimated that they were no better than those begging Indians whom he had met, who began with a request and ended with a demand. He even went so far as to flatly dispute certain calculations that had been made, showing the advantages that were to be expected to result from the work in question, although at the same time confessing that he had no personal knowledge of the circumstances.

This was not encouraging, and our Toronto contemporary must not be surprised that it was not even considered courteous. He did not say that the matter had been brought to the attention of the several governments of which he had been a member during the past fifteen years; that all the facts in the case had been fully presented, and the importance of the work clearly demonstrated, and that promises had been made as long as ten and twelve years ago to carefully look into the question, and to give it every consideration it deserved. He expressed no regret that these promises had not been carried out; he had no excuse to offer for the rather contemptuous neglect exhibited by his colleagues during all that long period, and there was no assurance that he would do any better. He was pleased to intimate, indeed, that he "would not lose sight of the matter," and at the close of the interview he was gracious enough to promise that he would "endeavor" to see that a survey and estimate were made. Long years ago other ministers said, not that they would "endeavor" to do this, but that they would do it, and it is probable that should he continue in office the present premier will not be suffered to lose sight of it if he would. From which the Mail and Empire will see that there was very little for which the deputation had to return thanks.

Sir Mackenzie Bowell prides himself on not making promises that he cannot, or does not intend to carry out. He boasts of this in his speech to the deputation, and his Toronto organ refers to it with the most evident satisfaction. We regret we can see little in the boast to excite admiration. It is precisely what an honest man would do, and what all men ought to do. The premier was not desired to make an insincere promise, and there was therefore no temptation to transgress. It would have been more becoming his position and the circumstances he was asked to consider if he had boasted less of his honesty, and promised that the long neglect with which this district has been treated would be corrected at the earliest possible moment. And then if he had gone back to Ottawa to keep his promise we should know what to expect. At present we are no wiser than we were. With his love of pottering, he visited the rapids the following day, whether in perseverance of his promised "endeavor" we do not know; he was careful after his return, however, to express the hope that he had not committed himself by anything he had said or done. The better development of a large portion of this province is depending on the improvement of navigation at St. Andrew's rapids, and the Dominion premier did not think it worth his while in answer to the representations of the business men of this city, to say whether that development was deserving of the serious consideration of his government. Mr. Laurier would be a paws-stick, indeed, if he could not improve on this.—Winnipeg Free Press.

NOW IT IS THE BICYCLE WALK.

It Is Claimed That Wheeling Makes People Pigeon-Toed.

Chicago Tribune: An Illinois physician has discovered that the present extreme use of the bicycle is fast tending to make the American people a decidedly pigeon-toed race. The constantly revolving motion of the feet and lower legs as they turn the pedals has given to the gait of those people who are much addicted to the bicycle a peculiar turn the progressive doctor calls the bicycle walk. Those who remember the days of the roller skating craze will probably recall the effect that exercise had on the gait of those who practised it, particularly the gait of some young ladies of the age to be easily affected. They took on at once a rolling, twinging, half-gliding, rhythmical step that represented the motion of roller skating as closely as could be by any one not on rollers. So it will be with the bicycle walk, said the aforesaid Illinois doctor, except that instead of being only a temporary peculiarity it will become permanent and hereditary, as the bicycle fever promises to be, whereas the roller skating fad enjoyed but a brief existence.

The bicycle walk is nothing more nor less than the pedalling motion of the wheel applied to the walk. Notice a cyclist who is afflicted. It will be seen that when he lifts his back foot in walking he does not put it straight ahead, but carries it back a little, as he would have to in following the pedals, and then swings it high, almost to the calf of the other leg, before setting it forward. The pigeon-toeing comes in there also, and causes the sufferer from bicycle walk to "interfere" after the manner of horses. The pigeon-toeing is accounted for by the position of the feet on the pedals. There the toes turn in and down, and the heels turn up and out, the pressure being borne on the ball of the foot.

Among the racing men the bicycle walk is most noticeable, of course. It has taken them in much worse form than it has the ordinary cyclist, and extends to the swing of the arms and the carriage of the head. The elbows of the racing man having to bear the weight as he leans far over the handle bars, and gives him the appearance of being bow-legged as to his arms. The neck and head are projected forward, too, and the face wears that strained, anxious expression of a man who wants to get there as soon as possible.

The tanks were tampered with in some mysterious way, and the crew believe it was the cook, who was tired of the cruise and wanted to get ashore. The vessel ran to Yokohama and got more water and a new cook. She ran back to the same grounds, but the seals were gone. The Arietas reports the Mermaid with 1728.

RELEASED BY BOND.

Skins of the E. B. Marvin in the Owner's Hands—Shipments of Skins.

E. B. Marvin & Co. have bonded the skins of the seized sealer E. B. Marvin, under seizure, out of the custody of Collector Milne. The necessary papers have been drawn up, signed and delivered, and the skins, 367 in number, will be landed from the schooner this afternoon. The skins were ordered sold, but it is generally conceded that the owner is entitled to some consideration and that he is in reality receiving very little when the lump sum of the bond equals the present market price of sealskins. The sealing men still hold to the opinion that the bond will be terminated by an order from the admiralty court releasing schooner and skins after the case is tried.

The sealskins with the other skins from the firm's schooner will be packed in preparation for shipment. The same is also being done by other houses, and already a large amount of skins are ready for shipment. When the first will go forward has not yet been determined. No information has been received yet as to the autumn sales in London. It is barely possible they will be held at the usual time in October, as there are a lot of skins taken early in the year, in the London warehouses, and that another sale will be held later on.

THE CHURCH CASE.

Hearing Has Been in Progress All Day at Police Court.

The hearing of the J. E. Church, manager of the B. C. Mercantile Agency, charged under section 100 of the code, with pointing a revolver at Jesse Cowper, has been on all day at city police court before Magistrate Macrae. Thornton Fell appeared for the prosecution and A. L. Belyea for the defense. The story for the prosecution was told by the Cowper brothers. They called at Mr. Church's office Wednesday afternoon for a statement of a collection against Jesse Cowper, which was refused them, Mr. Church saying the matter was in the hands of C. Dubois Mason. A dispute arose, followed by hard language, and both the Cowpers swore Church drew a revolver from his drawer and pointed it directly at Jesse. The latter said he was not afraid, regarding it merely as a bluff, but his brother in his evidence swore that he was afraid Church was going to use the revolver. The gun was then placed on the desk, and when Church picked it up again Jesse Cowper took it away from him. The brother admitted that Jesse had used abusive language, but denied that he had made any threats. They admitted being ordered out several times and that Church had twice telephoned for the police.

Mr. Church in his own defence swore that the Cowper brothers came in and Jesse used violent language of an abusive and threatening nature, and that he feared bodily harm. He ordered the men out and telephoned for the police, but they would not go. He said he merely drew the gun as a matter of protection. He did not point it and the second time he picked it up he was going to put it in the drawer. He gave it up in the struggle for fear it would go off.

The evidence of Officer Walker having been taken, counsel on both sides made short addresses, after which the magistrate dismissed the information, the plaintiff to pay the costs.

To the Editor:—I would like through the columns of your valuable paper to let the public of Victoria know that I have placed the name of Mr. Scaife, editor of the Province, before the Life Members of the Puget Sound Institute for the Adult Blind for their approval as director and trustee for British Columbia. I am, dear sir, yours most respectfully, DANIEL BECK.

CIVIC COAL PURCHASES.

To the Editor:—In this morning's Colonist appears a letter from Mr Cartmel, which he begins by referring Spratt & Macaulay "or any one else" to my letter in the Times of the 20th instant "for full information" re civic coal purchases, and concludes by charging me with "copying the tactics of the cuttle fish or skunk in getting rid of its enemies." I agree with Mr. Cartmel that, to use his own words, he "had no business to meddle in this matter," much less to show, as he has done, a personal animus against myself. I have never stooped to the weak expedient of calling even my bitterest opponent nasty names, and I do not propose to copy Mr. Cartmel in this respect. JOHN MACMILLAN.

A BRIEF ELOPEMENT.

Johnnie Jones and Agnes Harris Return Ingloriously With Faint Hearts.

Agnes Harris and Johnnie Jones concluded not to elope, and returned to the city last night. Master Jones was found on the streets last night by Sergeant Hawton and Detective Perdue He admitted that he and the girl had been together until Wednesday and that the girl had gone home. He did not impress the officers with the story he told, and investigation brought out the fact that it was Thursday the girl returned to town. She was afraid to go home, but went to the house of a friend on North Park street. She will no doubt return to her parents at once however. It was, according to what the officers learned, an elopement under difficulties. Johnnie hadn't the means to fly from angry parents in any kind of style. In fact they had to walk. The cold weather took the romance out of the adventure.

The police say that nothing will be done in the line of prosecution, as the boy is too young and the girl too old to meet the exactions of the statute.

WORK AT BEAVER LAKE.

Substantial Progress Made with the New Filter Beds.

The contractors for the city water works are making progress with the preparations for the foundations and walls of the reservoir and filters. They have erected two sheds, where the Portland cement which has arrived, is protected from wet weather. A large staff of men is at work digging and wheeling out the accumulation of boggy and peaty material which has lodged in what is now intended to be the basin of the reservoir. This work is heavy, but the men are working away bravely, and so far have succeeded in levelling the greater portion of the space between the lower wall of the basin and the caretaker's residence, with rich mold, which can easily be converted into a beautiful garden and flower plots. The Victoria & Sidney railway company have extended the spur from the main line to the line of the wall on the southeast side of the water works, for convenience in dumping a quantity of broken rock, which is to be brought by the contractors from the provincial jail. The trestle work of this spur will be removed as the work progresses. Other temporary tramways have been erected by the contractors on the northwestern side of the works and connecting along the walls of the filters, to fill up those walls with rubble work. Mr. Brown, clerk of works, has been at his post for some time in the interest of the city council, under Engineer Jorgenson. There has been a scarcity of suitable workmen for the past couple of weeks, but the prospect is that during the next two weeks there will be a full supply obtainable. A staff of men engaged by the city council to clear off fallen trees and rubbish around the margin of the lake, have in use a stump machine, which is assisted by explosive substances and a team of horses. They are doing good work.

SIGNAL TRIUMPH WON

By Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder.

Two signal triumphs have been achieved by Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder. First it received Highest Award and Diploma at the World's Columbia Exposition of 1893. Next it secured Highest Award and Gold Medal at the California Midwinter Fair of 1894. At both fairs it surpassed all competitors in every respect. The award, in each instance, was for strongest leavening power, perfect purity and general excellence. It was sustained by the unanimous vote of the judges.

The victory at Chicago establishes the supremacy of Dr. Price's as "The Foremost Baking Powder in the World." The triumph at San Francisco confirms and emphasizes it.

ROSSLAND.

Rossland Miner.

A third interest in the Highland was sold for cash this week to a San Francisco man. The owners will proceed at once to development work.

A new opening was made on the big ledge of the Indiana Consolidated 20 feet north of the old opening and a good body of ore found very near the surface. Solid pieces of galena are found which run high in silver, with some gold.

A great strike is reported from the Violet, a claim lying south of the Crown Point. An open crosscut revealed 20 feet of ore in almost solid mass.

Jules H. Sussman, now in the employ of the C. P. R. company, has been in the camp all week gathering material for a report to his company on the outlook for ore tonnage.

The showing in the new opening on the Homestake is magnificent. There is a body of solid ore over four feet in width in sight that carries over 1000 ounces in silver and about 12 in gold. This makes its total value not less than $75 per ton.

Work on the Trail smelter is now well under way with a large force of men. Some inconvenience has been occasioned by delay in getting sufficient tools from Spokane but there will be no further trouble on that account. Grading is being done for the foundations; and the hills are covered with wood choppers cutting cordwood. A big question to be solved is where the 1,500,000 brick required shall be obtained. The equipment of the smelter is to be very complete, and of the most improved kind. There are to be two O'Hara furnaces, two reverbatory furnaces, one circular furnace designed expressly for these works, and one water jacket stack. The smelter will accommodate about 125 tons or ore per day. Mr. Heinze has a contract with the Le Roi for 75,000 tons. This will be delivered to him probably at the rate of 100 tons per day, or 36,500 tons a year.

The shaft on the Palo Alto is now down a little over thirty feet and some very rich looking copper ore is just making its appearance. A very good grade of arsenical iron ore carrying $18 to 025 in gold has prevailed up to the present. The new ore is of richer quality, the copper being of an especially encouraging feature.

It is safe to say the mines of this camp never looked so well as they do to-day. The improvement has been remarkable during the past three weeks. Every ore wagon is now employed and there is a steady increase in the demand for miners. Several important sales have been made during the past week and on one property where a bond had been thrown up a very fine body of high grade copper ore has been found.

The Le Roi is now raising about ninety tons of ore per day, and shipping seventy to seventy-five tons. A reserve of about 125 tons is now held in the bins. The wagons do not take all the ore raised because the Northport road is so bad they can not carry it.

What are known as the Burke mines are to be developed with vigor this winter. These are the West Le Roi, the Great Western, the Robert E. Lee and the Maid of Erin.

W. H. Mead has bonded the Crown Point Fraction, which is the northeast extension of the Crown Point. It consists of about 400 feet of ground, having been the excess to that extent of the Crown Point when the survey was made. It is believed to carry the Crown Point ledge, which makes it a property of much prospective value. Mr. Mead has also bonded the Hattie Brown a claim lying 1500 feet south of the Homestake, and carrying a good percentage of silver.

Considerable shipments are now being made from the War Eagle, although the new air compressor is not in place, and will not be for some time to come. The boilers for the new plant are still at Northport, the bad state of the wagon road making it impossible to bring them forward yet. The War Eagle has now the highest grade ore ever shipped from the camp, much of it running up to $200 a ton in gold. This ore comes from No. 3 chute, and seems to be there in force.

Dr. Edward Bowes writes as follows to the Miner: In reply to your inquiry relative to the prevalence of typhoid fever in Rossland, I would say that the first case came under my observation about the first of August. Since then about twenty additional cases have been reported. No new cases have, however, been reported since the first heavy rainfall about ten days ago; and, it is probable that the rains have flushed out the water courses, and that we are not likely to have the disease in anything like epidemic form. The disease has been in a light form, only three fatal cases having occurred.

Surveyors of the Canadian Pacific reached town a few days ago and have been at work all week making permanent locations for the line. The road will come in by way Columbia mountain, running around the south base, then crossing to Monte Cristo mountain, running near the Iron Horse and crossing Centre Star creek not far from the Centre Star mine, passing over to Red mountain and skirting around by the Nickel Plate mine below the War Eagle and Le Roi, going around the base of Red mountain, and getting down into the Trail Creek valley, then turning down Trail Creek and running down three miles and a half, then turning north to connect with the line approaching town. Thus a complete circuit will be established.

The Spokane & Northern is not coming in this fall, but will be heard next spring. President Corbin says he will be ready for business by June 1. His surveys are now all completed between here and Northport. The line will approach town by way of Little Sheep creek, and at a point a little southwest of Red mountain; a line will be run off to the southeast to accommodate the Homestake, Monday, Gopher, Maid of Erin, Robert E. Lee and other mines in the South Belt, while the main line will pass around the south side of Red mountain, on a line half way up the mountain, and come around on the east side so as to accommodate the Le Roi, War Eagle, Nickel Plate, Centre Star and Cliff, then cross the gulch and pass on the south side of Monte Cristo mountain and on to Columbia mountain. In this way Mr. Corbin expects to gridiron the camp and serve almost every important shipping mine.

NANAIMO.

Nanaimo, Sept. 27.—Notices have been posted in various parts of the city during the week, conveying the intelligence that 50 men were wanted to work on the Victoria waterworks at $2.25 per day. The notice is looked upon as a bait to get a lot of the idle men out of town.

It is stated that the New V. C. Co. have secured a contract to supply the British fleet in these waters with fuel, and trat 7000 tons will be required per month. News of this kind is generally welcome here.

A public meeting was held in the city hall last evening for the purpose of hearing the ratepayers' views on the proposed purchase of the Nanaimo waterworks by the city. Only three aldermen spoke, and they expressed themselves in favor of the project.

It is reported the New V. C. Co. intend to sink a shaft on "Jack's" point at an early date, to connect with the Protection island shaft.

Three bears were sent to the city early this morning from the camp of W. Vanhouten and party, who have been out at Cameron lake for the past few days.

The juveniles have been destroying the windows of private residences of late in a wholesale manner, and no effort has been made by the police to put a stop to the nuisance.

Ald. Cocking's by-law, which is to be introduced Monday night, to govern the sale of milk, provides for a tax being paid by the vendors to the city, and further that adulteration of the milk will be subject to a fine.

ENGLISHMAN'S RIVER.

Two wagon loads of ore passed through from Alberni, on their way to Tacoma.

Last week owing to the high tides and stormy weather, the greater part of the lumber landed on the beach got afloat and gave considerable trouble to its owners. It was washed in covered with enormous masses of sea weed. Thousands of shingles were rescued by the road party near Qualicum.

Work is just over up there, and the camp is now located in Mr. Albert Hirst's garden; the men are busy clearing the dam, which has been blocked for some years for half a mile. They are also cutting a canal to prevent its recurrence.

Two of the Japs staying at the postoffice had great fun the other day. They found some "caps," as they supposed, and proceeded to make fireworks of them with rocks. The display might have ended fatally for them; as it is they are damaged about the face and arms. The "caps" were dynamite.

Mrs. Harris, of Nanaimo, has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. J. Hirst.

Mr. J. McCarter is harvesting an extraordinary large and fine crop of oats.

CHILLIWACK.

Good butter is a very scarce article in our local market. Why is this thus in a dairying community like ours?

We were shown last week in the garden of Fred Rexford a fine bunch of raspberries of the Gregg variety. On an 18-inch branch were 46 berries, two-thirds of them ripe.

Mr. J. J. Kerr's house on the outskirts of the town, and formerly occupied by Mr. Whitley, was burned to the ground about two o'clock on Friday morning last. The cause of fire is unknown, but it certainly must have been a case of incendiarism.

James A. McKay, conductor on the C. P. R., Sicamous, and Miss Ella, third daughter of Rev. C. Ladner, were married on Wednesday, the father of the bride performing the ceremony.

PROVINCIAL HEALTH ACT.

Board of Health to be Established for the Whole Province.

The Health Act passed by the provincial legislature in 1893 comes into effect to-day, the proclamation of the Lieut.-Governor having appeared in last evening's Gazette. The act provides for a board of health to consist of five members, one of whom shall be secretary. They are to be appointed by the government and are to receive such remuneration as shall be fixed by the Lieut.-Governor-in-Council. The chairman of the board is to be appointed by the Lieut.-Governor-in-Council, and he will be the chief health officer of the province. His salary is not to exceed $3000 a year and the secretary's not more than $2500. The municipal boards of health are placed under the provincial board, and if they do not carry out the orders of the provincial board the latter may practically take charge of the health and sanitary affairs of the city and exercise and enforce at the expense of the city, any of the powers of the local board which they think necessary.

The board is empowered to make such regulations as they think necessary, subject to the approval of the government, and require the city board to carry them out. Sanitary police may be appointed in municipalities, to be paid by the municipalities. If municipal by-laws shall conflict with the regulations of the board, it is provided that the by-laws shall be suspended. The board may also issue regulations for taking charge of any lands or buildings in any municipality, compensation, if any, is to be paid the owner by the municipality.

No city or company is allowed to establish a public water supply or system of sewerage without first submitting the plans for the approval of the board of health. No sewer, or appliance for the ventilation of the same, shall be constructed in violation of any of the principles laid down by the provincial board of health, subject to appeal to the Lieut.-Governor-in-Council.

The board may order any municipality to appoint a registered medical practitioner as health officer, and if the request is not granted within five days the Lieut.-Governor may appoint one, upon the recommendation of the board.

The second part of the act applies to local boards, how they shall be organized, their duties and the regulations which they shall impose.

When before the legislature the bill was strenuously opposed by the city members.

The men appointed to form the new provincial board are Dr. John C. Davie of Victoria, Dr. J. M. Lefevre of Vancouver, Dr. Richard E. Walker of New Westminster, Dr. Louis F. Davis of Nanaimo, and Dr. Alfred T. Watt of Victoria. Dr. Davie is made chairman and Dr. Watt secretary.

TWO OF A NAME.

An Eastern Reviewer Who Mixed up the Two Alexander Beggs.

The literary reviewer of the Montreal Star says in the issue of that paper of Sept. 14:

The two following letters were lately handed to me in the Star office:—

To the Editor of the Star:

Dear Sir:—Your appreciative notice of the "History of British Columbia," in your issue of the 10th instant, does not give credit to whom credit is due. There are two historians of the name of Alexander Begg. Alexander Begg who writes on "The Creation of Manitoba," etc., is a distinct person from the Alexander Begg who is the author of the "History of British Columbia."

This latter is a resident of this town, and a near neighbor of mine.

He is now engaged on a "School History of British Columbia, and he has been for years connected, more or less, directly with the press of Canada.

He was for several years an emigration agent in Scotland for the Ontario government, and has been for some time engaged in promoting the scheme of Crofter immigration to British Columbia. Yours truly,

JOHN GRAY.

Tannachy Cottage, Orillia.

To the Editor of the Star:

Dear Sir:—The reviewer of Begg's "British Columbia," in the Star of August 10, page 4, makes the mistake of considering Alexander Begg, of British Columbia (Crofter's commissioner), as the same Alexander Begg who wrote the Manitoba and Northwest books. They are two different men. Yours,

C. C. J.

Toronto.

In James Boswell's immortal book I find the following anecdote: "A lady once asked Dr. Johnson how he came to define pastern as the knee of a horse. Instead of making an elaborate defense, as she expected, he at once answered, 'Ignorance, pure ignorance.'"

Such also is my only plea, as the reviewer (in the Star of August 10) of Mr. Alexander Begg's "History of British Columbia." With almost pardonable inadvertence, I rolled two single gentlemen into one, and confounded the above named historian with another Mr. Alexander Begg, who is the author of the "Creation of Manitoba," "The Great Canadian Northwest," and also "The History of the Northwest." I now apologize to both these gentlemen for my involuntary error, and am not ashamed to acknowledge, like the brave and honest doctor, that it was "ignorance, pure ignorance," on my part. I could scarcely be expected to guess that there were two "Richmonds in the field" of northwestern historical research.

ABSOLUTELY PURE

KITES AS MESSENGERS.

Interesting Experiments Conducted by a New York Expert.

A number of novel experiments in aero-aquatics, which are expected to develop important practical results, are being conducted by Dr. J. Woodbridge, at Bergen Point, N. J.. The first in the series of experiments was made last Saturday afternoon, when several messenger buoys were sent across the Kill van Kull by means of Eddy kites. The messenger buoy is made of wood in the form of a projectile. In its hollowed end it carries a glass bottle, into which a message has been inserted. This hole is coated with tar, and when stopped by a close-fitting cork, is perfectly water tight.

The practical application of this aquatic apparatus is to facilitate the sending of marine messages ashore during stormy weather. Attendants on light ships and in light-houses, isolated during heavy storms, can, by means of them, communicate with the shore. Messages can thereby also be sent to land by transatlantic liners when the heavy seas make it hazardous for row boats.

The experiments were pronounced highly successful by the experts who were present as witnesses. Among the latter were former Commodore W. Romaine Vermilye, of the Atlantic Yacht Club; Henry L. Allen and W. S. Allen, No. 106 Humphreys avenue, Bayonne; Wm. H. Wood, No. 224 Eighth street, Jersey City; Stuart M. French, No. 503 Western Boulevard, New York; Charles W. Cutting, No. 5 East First street, Bayonne, and Henry W. Shelton, of Montclair.

The first buoy left the Bergen Point shore of the Kill van Kull at twenty-four minutes after four o'clock and reached a large freight ship east of Port Richmond at twenty-eight minutes to five o'clock, having covered a distance of over half a mile in eight minutes.

A kite six feet in diameter, built for heavy weather was attached to the buoy by a line 400 feet in length. So heavy was the pull of the kite that it was found necessary to attach to the buoy a double dragging force, consisting of two three pound tin funnels, each having a large opening forward and a small one aft.

At the second experiment a smaller kite, fourteen inches in diameter, was used, attached to a string 300 feet long. The buoy left Bergen Point thirty-five minutes after five, reaching a steamboat moored to the opposite shore in three and a half minutes. In this instance the drags were removed, and so swiftly was the buoy propelled through the water that rowboats in pursuit were unable to overtake it.

The kites, in crossing the Kill, presented a singular effect. The line controlling them was severed immediately when they left shore, and, save for the trailing buoys, they were at perfect liberty, fluttering and circling like gigantic gulls.

The messenger buoys and drags are the invention of Dr. J. Woodbridge Davis, the author of the life-saving kite, by means of which lines can be cast ashore from wrecked vessels. The propelling power was furnished by William A. Eddy, with the Eddy tailless kite, which he discovered in 1891.

The system of measurement in building this kite is very elaborate, and has been calculated to a nicety. Mr. Eddy was the first to obtain temperatures of altitudes by hoisting a self recording thermometer by means of a kite string.

Further experiments will be resumed next Saturday, should the weather permit. An attempt will then be made to steer the buoy in different directions by means of the Davis kites, which are attached to double lines and can be guided by pulling one and slacking the other. —New York Herald.

CANCER ON THE LIP

CURED BY

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

"I consulted doctors who prescribed for me, but to no purpose. I suffered in agony seven long years. Finally, I began taking Ayer's Sarsaparilla. In a week or two I noticed a decided improvement. Encouraged by this result, I persevered, until in a month or so the sore began to heal, and, after using the Sarsaparilla for six months, the last trace of the cancer disappeared."—JAMES E.
